FOOD WITH A STORY

FEATURING CHEF EDGAR CARRILLO
AND THE LATE CHEF BRAD WHITE

MEET EDGAR CARRILLO

I started with Saltgrass Steak House in 2005 as a front manager at our Willowbrook location. I've always had a passion for food and the kitchen. I informed my Divisional Vice President that my ultimate professional goal was to join our culinary team. During the year 2020, I had the opportunity to get into my kitchen and become very hands-on with our food and ultimately became a tester for new items that would later become staples on our menu. In early 2021, I learned that we would have an opening on our culinary team. Wasting no time, I asked to be considered for the position. In July of 2021 I was promoted to Regional Chef under the great mentorship of Carlos Rodriguez.

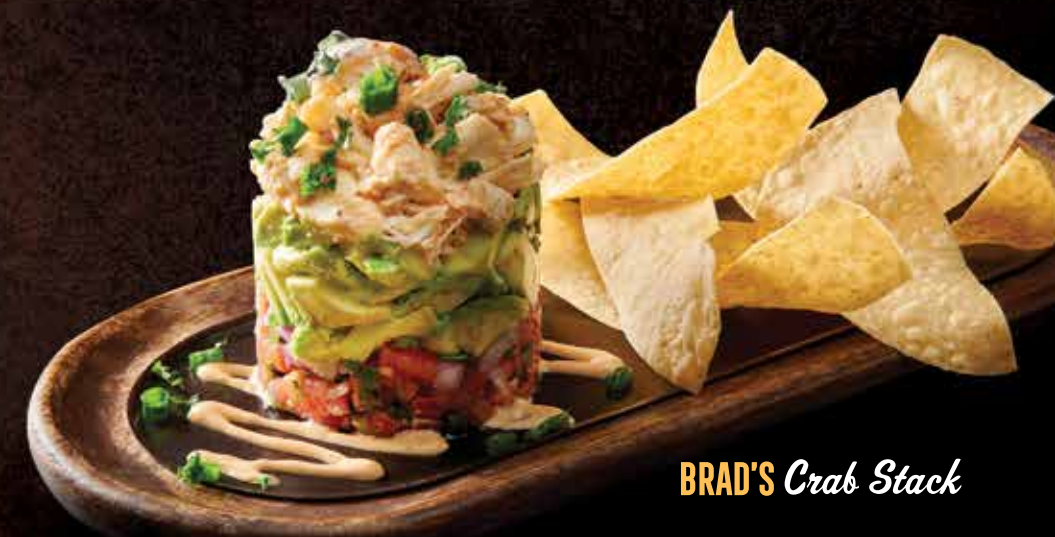

BRAD WHITE

Brad's Crab Stack is a very fun dish that includes a bed of pico de gallo, diced avocados, and a lump crab salad topped with cilantro-chive salad, and it is served with tostada chips to enjoy. Its name, Brad's Crab Stack, is derived from its unique presentation as a stacked dish.

BRAD'S Crab Stack

This spring we are adding an amazing dish to our menu called 'Brad's Crab Stack', a dish named after the late Brad White. Brad was a long time Regional Chef for Saltgrass who developed this dish during a spring promotion we had over a decade ago. Brad was the face of Saltgrass for many years as he went all over the country to oversee the culinary operations restaurant openings. He was featured in many news stories as Saltgrass started to expand into new markets. His passion for food and people was a remarkable thing to observe. You never saw Brad having a bad day. If you found yourself down on your luck, he always found a way to cheer you up and brighten your day. Unfortunately, Brad passed away in 2020 and is sorely missed. We find ourselves wanting to honor him, so we decided to bring this item to our menu and name it after him."

BRAD'S Crab Stack

SHRIMP Spring Salad

JUST IN TIME for Spring

“ We wanted to create a dish that is labeled light and refreshing for the summertime. What better way than to include strawberries in salad. ”

BACK STORY

Being from the Southwest part of France, I visited quite often the Basque country over the years skying, surfing the Gulf of Biscay or for the summer Ferias - just having a long weekend between the beach and the mountains. I remember clearly the first time I had a chance to eat a "Tuna Basquaise", I was still a young boy and was seating with my parents at a restaurant terrace in the City of Saint Jean de Luz by the small fishing port.

The restaurant owner came to our table and told me "You see that green boat in wood across the street? The Tuna you are eating was caught this morning by the captain". I was in shock! I loved the story, the fish caught from that big boat across the street became suddenly something I have never forgot, and it all suddenly made sense. That day I realized fish were coming from the sea fished by boats and captains, not always from a delivery truck coming from who knows where?

Since then, a few years have passed by, I still cook quite often a "Basquaise" (With Chicken or Tuna) and it always brings me a smile. That Green Boat is probably no longer but the history and flavors of that day will always have a very particular taste\perfume to me...

Wood Grilled Tuna Basquaise

INGREDIENTS

- 1/3 cup of cooking Olive Oil (plus 1/4 cup extra-virgin olive oil for finishing)
- 2ea. large onions finely chopped.
- 1/4 lb. pound prosciutto, sliced 1/4-inch thick and cut into 1-inch thin strips
- 12ea. thyme sprigs.
- 8ea. large garlic cloves slivered.
- 4ea. bay leaves.
- 5ea. large red bell peppers, cut into 1-inch length and 1/4 inch wide strips.
- 5ea. medium yellow bell peppers, cut into 1-inch length and 1/4 inch wide strips.
- 1/2 cup of Pernod (facultative)
- 2 cups dry white wine.
- 10ea. medium ripe tomatoes—peeled, seeded and coarsely chopped (or 2 can of diced Tomatoes with juice)
- 3 cups V-8 juice.
- 2 tablespoon tomato paste
- 2 Teaspoon of Espelette Pimiento
- Salt and freshly ground pepper
- 4ea. 1+ inch-thick tuna steaks, about 10 oz each

DIRECTIONS

- 1 Blanch the Prosciutto strips in 4 cups of water (from cold to boil ,repeat twice, it helps to take some of the salt off the ham)
- 2 Heat 1/3 cup of the olive oil in a large enameled cast-iron casserole. Add the onions, thyme, garlic and bay leaves and cook over moderately low heat, stirring until the onions begin to soften, about 5 minutes. Reduce the heat to low and cook until softened, about 10 minutes.
- 3 In the meantime, clean and cut the bell peppers length wise 1/4. Inch wide. Add the bell peppers and cook until softened, about 5 minutes. Add the Pernod and reduce to almost dry. Add the wine and simmer over moderately high heat for 8 minutes. Add the Ham and the diced tomatoes, simmer for 5 minutes longer, then add the V-8 juice and tomato paste. Simmer over moderate heat until thickened, about 15 minutes. Discard the thyme and bay leaves and season with salt and pepper and the Espelette Pimiento.
- 4 On a hot Charcoal Grill (preferably), add small thin pieces of wood such as Oak. Once soaked for 15 minutes, throw them on the hot coal and let them slowly smoke. Once smoking, season the Tuna steaks with Salt and Pepper. Pour a bit of Olive Oil on each side of the steaks and grill over the wood over the smoke until the tuna is pink inside (5-8 minutes following the heat produced by your Grill)
- 5 Ladle the sauce onto 2 large platters. Slice the tuna across the grain.
- 6 Arrange the tuna on the sauce, pour the pan juices over the tuna, add a drip of Extra Virgin Olive Oil and serve very warm.

MAKE AHEAD

The vegetable Basquaise can be refrigerated for a couple of days. Reheat before serving. Basquaise can be served cold as it is a great chilled dish for hot days.

Surprising Gems About New York

CULINARY HAVEN

New York State boasts a vibrant food culture, with New York City leading the way as one of the world's top culinary destinations. The city's diverse food scene is legendary, providing a wide range of dining options to suit any palate. Whether you're in the mood for a quick bite from a street vendor or a lavish meal at an award-winning restaurant, New York City has it all.

One of the best things about dining in New York is the opportunity to experience authentic cuisine from all around the world. You can find everything from classic Italian pasta dishes and mouth-watering Mexican street tacos to savory Chinese dim sum and spicy Indian curries. You can even find savory Texas BBQ. The city is also home to a thriving vegan and vegetarian scene, with many restaurants offering delicious plant-based options.

In addition to the abundance of international cuisine, New York has its own unique food traditions, such as the famous New York-style pizza, bagels, and cheesecake. It's said that Gennaro Lombardi is credited with developing New York-style pizza, making Lombardi's the first pizzeria in the United States. The city is also known for its love of brunch, perfect for weekend indulgences.

DIVERSITY

New York is a melting pot of cultures, with folks of all races and creeds calling this state their home. This diversity has led to a vibrant and varied cultural scene in the region. As more people continue to flock to the Big Apple for work and other opportunities, this cultural mix will only continue to thrive and evolve, making New York an even more interesting and diverse place to live.

In fact, the numbers back it up: there are over 200 nationalities represented in New York, from Portuguese and German to Dutch, Russian, Swedish, and Greek.

THERE ARE OVER 800 LANGUAGES IN NEW YORK

And depending on which area you visit; you'll find different ethnic communities dominating. For example, areas like Albany, southeast, and central New York are predominantly Irish and Italian American, while the western areas are home to many German Americans. And let's not forget about the French Canadians, who reside in the northern part of the state.

NYC LAW YOU MAY NOT KNOW

In New York City, you're not supposed to honk your horn unless it's for emergencies. Now, we know gridlock is a thing in the streets of New York, but don't express your frustration by blowing your horn,

The City's website has a page where people can report a noisy vehicle, including horn honking. The website says, "You can report noise from a vehicle caused by an idling engine, loud music, or horn honking. Horn honking is only allowed as a warning of danger."

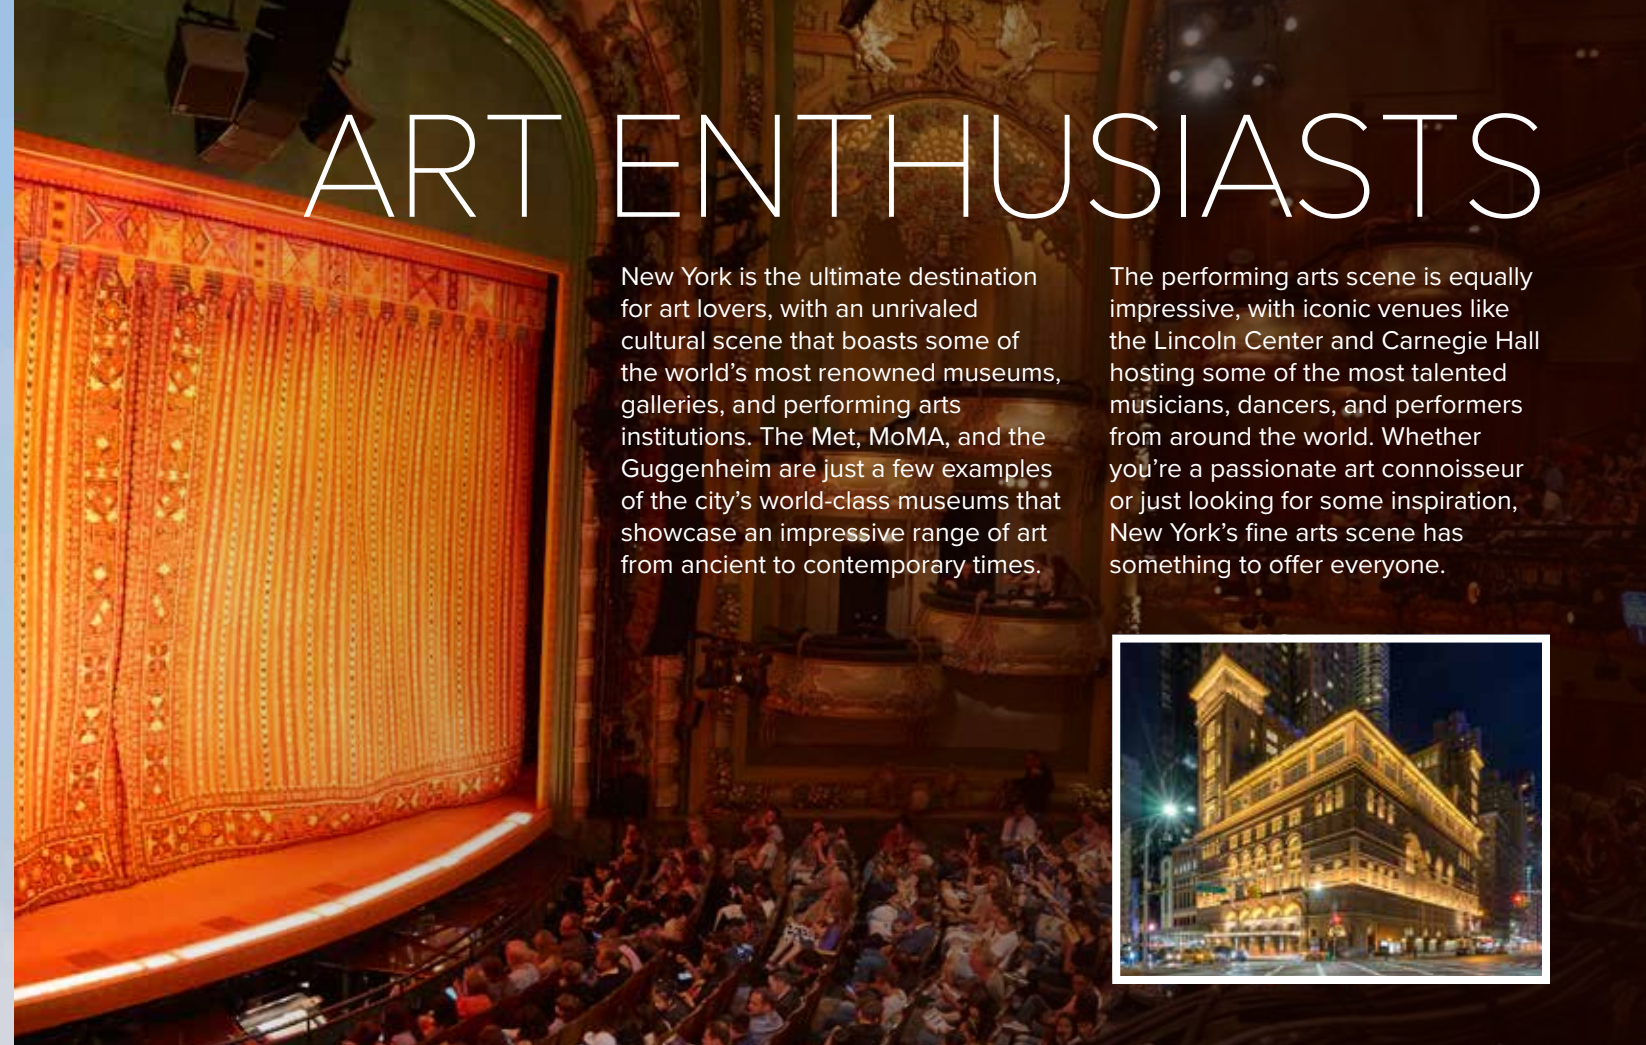

Drivers who are caught inappropriately using their horns could face a fine of $350. So, my advice to you when or if you are driving in New York, refrain from honking your horn if you can manage.

HOME TO ONE OF THE MOST RECOGNIZABLE SYMBOLS OF THE UNITED STATES

The Statue of Liberty is an iconic symbol of freedom and democracy, gifted to the US by France in 1886. Beyond its symbolism, the statue has played a crucial role in welcoming immigrants to the US and shaping the country's cultural heritage. It represents the American dream and serves as a reminder of the struggles and hardships faced by immigrants in their pursuit of a better life. The statue's impressive engineering and popularity as a tourist destination are a testament to its impact on American culture and society. Ultimately, the Statue of Liberty stands as a powerful representation of the values that make America great.

ART ENTHUSIASTS

New York is the ultimate destination for art lovers, with an unrivaled cultural scene that boasts some of the world's most renowned museums, galleries, and performing arts institutions. The Met, MoMA, and the Guggenheim are just a few examples of the city's world-class museums that showcase an impressive range of art from ancient to contemporary times.

The performing arts scene is equally impressive, with iconic venues like the Lincoln Center and Carnegie Hall hosting some of the most talented musicians, dancers, and performers from around the world. Whether you're a passionate art connoisseur or just looking for some inspiration, New York's fine arts scene has something to offer everyone.

WHERE CONCRETE JUNGLE MEETS GREEN OASIS

New York is like no other place on Earth. The towering skyscrapers, busy streets, and exciting nightlife all contribute to the city's fast-paced and metropolitan vibe. But what sets New York apart is its green spaces and waterfront parks, which offer a peaceful retreat from the hustle and bustle of city life. Central Park is a gem in the heart of Manhattan, a place where you can jog, cycle, or just chill out and enjoy a picnic. Hudson River Park and Brooklyn Bridge Park are popular spots for waterfront strolls, offering breathtaking views of the city skyline. And when you need a break from the city altogether, you can easily hop on a train or a bus and head out to explore natural wonders like the Catskill Mountains, Adirondacks, or Long Island beaches. New York truly has it all - a unique blend of urban excitement and natural beauty that is unrivaled by any other city in the world.

DID YOU KNOW?

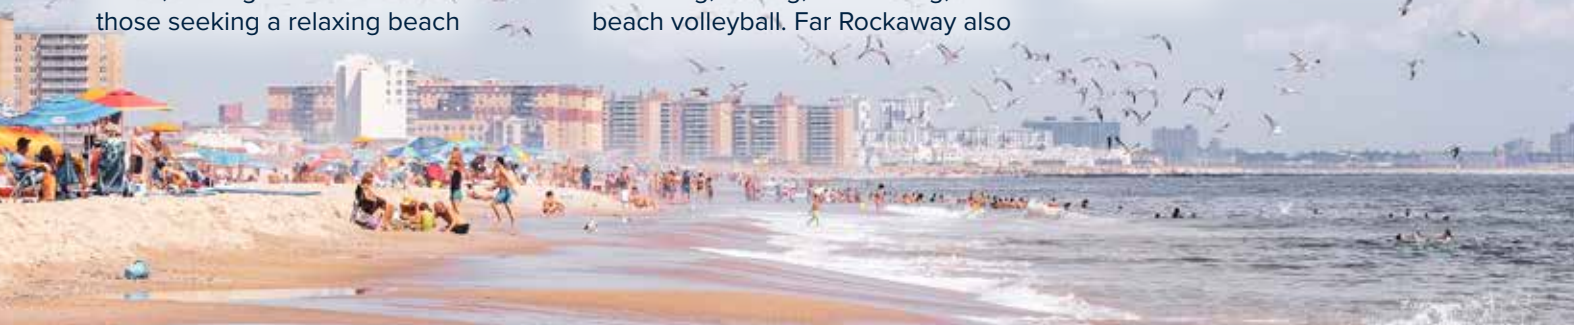

New York City was briefly the capital of the United States from 1785-1790 before it was moved to Washington, D.C.

FAR ROCKAWAY BEACH

Far Rockaway Beach is a hidden gem located in Queens, New York, that is often overlooked by tourists visiting the city. With its long stretch of soft sand, clear water, and breathtaking views, it is a great destination for those seeking a relaxing beach vacation. Despite its proximity to the bustling city, Far Rockaway offers a peaceful escape from the hustle and bustle of everyday life. Visitors can enjoy a variety of activities, including swimming, surfing, sunbathing, and beach volleyball. Far Rockaway also

MEET Kim-Van Dang

AND HER NEW,
MINDFUL,
SUSTAINABLE
LUXURY SCENTS
LAUNCHING
AT LANDRY'S
PROPERTIES

Over Mother's Day weekend in 2023, the founder of VAN DANG Fragrances will be making a Personal Appearance at The Post Oak Hotel in Uptown Houston – one of the first retailers to carry her new, mindful, sustainable luxury home fragrance collection. During the same weekend, she will also debut her eponymous line at the San Luis Resort in Galveston, Texas — another Landry's Inc. property.

Early Life

As a child in her native Saigon, Dang would sneak spritzes of YSL Rive Gauche, Nina Ricci L'Aire du Temps, and Chanel No. 5 from her mother's dresser, and even 4711 Eau de Cologne from her father's medicine cabinet. A Vietnam War refugee, she emigrated with her family to Ventura, California in 1975. During her college years at USC, where Dang studied Journalism and Political Science on scholarship, she took a part-time job at a department store just to score employee discounts on the haute perfumes of the day: Fendi, Diva, and Bijan. This was the fabulous Eighties. Upon graduation, she accepted an editorial position at Women's Wear Daily and W Magazine, where she now covered all the major fragrance launches for the fashion and beauty industry's newspaper of record. This was one beauty editor who never wore makeup, nor brushed her hair, but always smelled amazing.

Van Dang Fragrances was Born

In the early 2000s, while working as Beauty Director at In Style Magazine, Dang was introduced to Ron Winnegrad, director of the New York perfumery school at International Flavors & Fragrances (IFF) – one the largest fragrance oil houses in the world. He sensed her passion for all things olfactory and offered to teach her the art of perfumery. For three years, Dang studied with Winnegrad during her lunch break each Thursday. Fast-forward to December 2021, as the world finally emerged from COVID-19 lockdown: Dang and her husband and business partner Anthony Roberts – in collaboration with IFF — successfully launched VAN DANG Fragrances at Bergdorf Goodman.

Unveiling Her Newest Scent, Savannah

At the Post Oak Hotel and the San Luis Resort in May of 2023, they will unveil their newest scent – Savannah. An ode to the beauty of the American South, Savannah features an alluring neon facet of the gardenia flower. "This fragrance practically glows," says Dang, "just as one would, during sultry evenings in the summertime." Speaking of Summertime, the scent — available in the form of a candle, reed diffuser, room & linen mist, and crystal meditation set — is also an homage to her favorite singer, Billie Holiday, who famously wore fresh gardenia blooms in her hair.

About The Van Dang Collection

Dang describes the VAN DANG collection as "Wellness elevated; luxury redefined." "Our seven scents are designed with intention and sourced directly from farmers around the world. There are no middlemen, so we can ensure the quality of our fragrance oils. These are farmed sustainably, without pesticides. And in return, they are fair-trade, because we want to support these farming communities. It is an honor and a privilege for us to connect these farmers – through our esteemed retailers – to our end consumers. After all, it's people who make the world go round," Dang stated.

> We sat down with new Houston Rockets Head Coach Ime Udoka to help fans get to know him better as he heads into his 1st year coaching in Houston.

What do you know about Houston? Have you spent much time here?

Other than playing a ton of games here, I haven't gotten out much in Houston. The few things I do know is that we practiced here back in the day when I was with the Nigerian National Team. Hakeem [Olajuwon] took us out to dinner. There's a huge Nigerian community here. I'm excited to explore more and learn more about this city.

Your sister played for the Houston Comets. Do you have any memories from her time here?

When I got the call up from the Lakers, we became the first brother sister combo to play in the WNBA and NBA. That was a big deal for us and she got her main start here in Houston.

What excited you most about taking this job?

The players. It always comes down to players. Our roster is young but very talented. We have a ton of potential. The alignment I had with Tilman [Fertitta], Patrick [Fertitta], Rafael [Stone] and the whole front office during the interview process was important too. It was apparent we were all on the same page with what we envisioned with this team. I was happy the feeling was mutual when I was offered the job.

What should Rockets fans expect from you as their new head coach?

Be competitive first and foremost. I think 50-75% of every night is your effort level. You want a team to play hard and that plays the right way. On the offensive side we will want to shoot well, play with pace and be unselfish. Overall, we will want to be a defensive team though with a lot of excitement on the offensive side. We've seen how defense has won championships in the past for teams and we'll want to focus on that with these young guys.

Who inspired you to get into coaching? What coaches did you look up to?

I've been around a lot of great coaches. Phil Jackson was my first coach in the NBA. I was then around the likes of Larry Brown, Nate McMillan, Gregg Popovich and Paul Westphal. I played for a lot of great coaches. What really piqued my interest in coaching though, was that I had an AAU team in Portland that I sponsored. I would go back and spend a lot of time with them. That experience got me interested in getting into coaching.

What is your favorite part of being a head coach?

The relationships you form with the players is something I enjoy. You love scheming and game planning but the relationships with the players and spending time with them is what I do this for.

50-75% of every night is your effort level.

What do you believe is the #1 trait needed to be a successful head coach in the NBA?

Patience is a big one. Ime coincidentally means patience. That's a big part of coaching. It's important to be patient with players and to know what buttons to push. It's also important to be tough and to keep players accountable.

Who was your favorite basketball player or athlete growing up?

That's an easy one. Clyde Drexler. I grew up in Portland, Oregon and I would watch him on TV and listened to the games on the radio with my father. Clyde was the whole reason why I started playing basketball. Over the years I've been able to talk to him when we've come to Houston. I'm looking forward to meeting up with him soon.

Marina's goal is to become a GO RIO Boat Captain so that she can tell her story and share her adventures of how she became Marina, the GO RIO Turtle. She promotes curiosity and appreciation for the preservation of nature and takes pride in the culture of the Alamo City.

But Marina is not just about work - she also loves to have fun. She's an excellent swimmer and loves to dance the turtle two-step on the banks of the San Antonio River. If you're lucky, you might even catch a glimpse of her pretty pink shell poking out from the surface of the river as she swims past the GO RIO boats.

Marina's backstory is just as captivating as she is.

Born on the banks of the San Antonio River, she comes from a family of colorful and adventurous turtles who migrated from the Rio Grande. Her parents fell in love with the vibrant culture of the Alamo City, and they decided to make the River Walk their home. Marina was born on the riverbanks, and she quickly made friends with the local wildlife and the GO RIO Boat Captains.

Marina is more than just a mascot - she represents the spirit of San Antonio and everything that GO RIO stands for. With her adventurous personality and love for exploration, she is the perfect addition to the GO RIO family. So, next time you're on a GO RIO Cruise, keep an eye out for Marina, and don't forget to say hello!
